Quick-Tips for Clean-out Baiting

- Remove accessible sources of feed from your production building
- Determine areas of high rodent traffic such as along walls, gnawed openings, in corners, between floors or walls, beside burrows, or locations where signs have been observed
- Frequently inspect placements and replenish bait at sites where there is evidence of heavy feeding or where there is continued evidence of rodent activity
- Replace contaminated or spoiled bait immediately
- Continue baiting until all signs of feeding have ceased
- Always read and follow label directions
